DAN CASHIAN BOUND OVER

Attempts to Explain How Murderer Gaffney Was Concealed.

HE ADVISED HIM TO SURRENDER

Denies That He Made Any Effort to Prevent the Police Securing the Fagitive-Disastrous Business Failure-Lincoln News Notes.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 2 .- | Special to THE Bee. |- The case against Dan Cashian, the colored man charged with secreting the murderer Gaffney while the latter was eluding the police, came up for preliminary trial be fore Judge Waters at 3:30 this afternoon. Officer Carniban testified that the hay over Gaffney was placed in such a position that he must have had assistance in hiding him-

Cashian's story was that he ran acros Gaffrey a short time after the shooting Saturday night and advised him to give himself up. He claimed that he did not see him again until after he was arrested in the hav loft. Gaffney started to leave town and got as far as Denton, but came back Monday afternoon, went to the barn where Cashian worked and hid himself in the hay two hours before he was captured. He asserted that Cashian did not see him. At the conclusion of the testimony Judge Waters bein Cashian to the district court, fixing his ball at $300.

From the Police Court. Effic Rentz, Nora Smith and Belle Wads worth, three women who recently secured divorces from their husbands, are under ar-rest for street walking. Mrs. Wadsworth is the woman who caused ber husband's arrest on a fictitious charge some weeks ago in order that she might receive the attentions of her lover without interference. Ike Spevins and James Wilson, the latter a wooden legged man, were arrested for rob-bing a North Eleventh street residence. Spevins was sent to the county jail, while Wilson got off with a fine.

George Brown is under arrest for undertaking to take possession of a Burlington passenger coach while intoxicated.

J. S. Small was arrested last night on the charge of obtaining $55 under false pretenses. His friends are endeavoring to compromise

Disastrous Business Failure.

Disastrous Business Failure.

Lawier's dry goods establishment at 1028
Patreet is today in the hands of the sheriff.

Mrs. Lawier, the proprietor, confessed judgment today to the following amounts: Lincoln National bank, $1,350.80; Sweltzer, Pembrake & Co., $480; J. H. Deering, $2,711.58; Carson, Pirie, Scott, & Co., $255.12; N. Lawier, $1,616.17; Cinflin, Larabee & Co., $704.65. Other claims have also been presented and the entire habilities will foot up about $7,500. The assets cannot be ascertained until the invoice now being taken is completed. Mrs. Lawier believes that her completed. Mrs. Lawler believes that her stock will invoice $12,000 and that she will be stile to meet her entire indebtedness. Bad weather, poor trade and slow collections are alleged as the cause of the failure.

Very Much Complicated. Judge Field was engaged today in hearing the case of Sarah B. Alden against the First National bank. It is a somewhat complicated case involving about $30,000 in cash.

Mrs. Alden brings the suit to enjoin the bank from paying over to John Wisherd a draft for $19,550. Wisherd had purchased 2,240 acres of land in Gage county from P. D.
Cheney under contract, but for some reason declined to complete the sale. John S. Bilby then agreed to purchase the land and sent a draft for $19,550 to Cashier Callinan of the First National bank to apply on the purchase

In the meantime Mrs. Aiden, who holds a judgment of $20,000 against Wisherd, stoppe the payment of the draft with the under standing that the money was intended for Wishord's benefit. The case hinges on the point whether the draft should be paid to Wisherd or Cheney. Judge Field held that the money still belongs to Bilby, who drew the draft.

GENERAL COLE'S ACCOUNTS.

Bis Explanation of the Muddle Which the BEATRICE, Neb., June 2 .- | Special to THE BEE. |- Ex-Adjutant General A. V. Cole gave out a statement today, setting forth his side of the controversy concerning the affairs of the adjutant general's office. He goes greatly into detail in the matter, and cites instances of comparison between the expert's reports and the books. He finds therein the mistakes made when he turned over to Adjutant General Vitquain what he (Cole) supposed pended in his hands. These mistakes, General Cole says, arose through imperfect footings, and that he would have discovered them himself, if he had been permitted.

"Both of these mistakes would have been discovered by me when I came to post up my books and make final settlement," says Gen Brai Cole. "I was satisfied that the expert" account was correct when I saw the above accounts were included. As to the checks for my personal account, they should never have been included in the statement, but the expert did not know this. As to the $470 paid out by me that the military board refused to allow, I can only say that I paid this amount at various times. A part of the vouchers, I think, were lost from shipping from Grand Island, they having been shippe in an old box with some other papers, and when the box came to my office it was in a flinpidated condition, some of its contents having evidently been lost, I not knowing at the time that my accounts were lost, as I had the total of what I had paid out on a small memorandum in my pocket. The bal-ance of the accounts should be in the adju-tant general's office; if they are not, they may have gone into the basement, where I am in-formed many of the valuable records of the old First and Second Nebraska have gone. I should hate to accuse General Vifousin of an act of this kind, but I do know of my own personal knowledge that documents that were valuable to me disappeared from the office during the interim from January, 1891, to May, 1891; in other words, things that seem in the general's way are art to be con-signed to the waste basket. Be that as it may, I have paid the $475 and all other amounts claimed in the report, and should I not find the youobors for said amounts the Nobraska National Guards will be that much ahead. I would willingly pay double that amout trather than have them think I had itentionally misappropriated one cent of their money.

About Warrants and Vouchers. A little further along in his statement in plaining that money is not always paid out on the day the warrant is drawn, and that it not an unusual thing to pay out money Cole fires a raking volley at the administration. 'Governor Hoyd, when he went into office, draw the whole amount of the $37,200 on account of the Sioux ladian war without filing any receipted bill or bills of any kind with the auditor," says Cole, "and it was mooths before all this money was disbursed. months before all this money was disbursed. Governor Boyd turned over to Governor Thaver the amount that had not been paid out prior to May 5, 1891. General Vifquain paid out something like $14,000 of the amount and there is not a recepted bill on file for $1 of this money. I mention this fact for the reason that General Vifquain dwelt on this subject quite extensively in his report to Governor Beyd, biaming me for the same thing he had practiced himself. And same thing he had practiced timeself. And right here permit me to say that when I went into the office May 5, 1891, there was not a scratch of a pen to show that General Vifuain had paid out $1 of this money ex-cept the stubs in the check books: he had made no entry on his books to indicate that

The mency still remaining in the Indian fund, General Cole says, belongs in another fund, and that he told the military board so, but the board couldn't see it that way. "As to the $9.10 to J. T. Roller I think the stub will show that the check was lost and another check drawn. As to the checks drawn to check drawn. As to the checks drawn to Captain John L. Wilson and Lieutenant A. C. Smith for wrong amounts, I can only say that it was an oversight; they got the money, but I am sure they did not discover the mistake, as they are both gentlemen of integrity and would not knowingly take a collect that and would not knowingly take a collar that did not rightfully belong to them." In concluding, General Cole charges Gen-eral Vilquain with had faith, discourteous thusder on which to run for congress. General Cole says that when he left the office his eral Cole says that when he left the office has records were not up to date, as he had been too sick for two months to properly take care of his business. He had General Vifquain's promise of time to put his records in shape, and this when General Vifquain "was preparing his report to Governor Boyo, giving me a terrific raking down," Permission to be present at the session of the military board was granted General Cole, but he was excluded from the meeting.

excluded from the meeting.

"If I am able to trace any of the accounts I have paid I shall file with the adjutant general a bill for the same, subject to the action of the military board," says General Cole, and then be produces this receipt: and then be produces this receipt:

Arrest of An Alleged Attorney. Hastings, Neb., June 2.-|Special Tele gram to THE BEE. -The sole topic of discus sion on the streets today was the arrest yes terday of F. Judson Ferguson. Some time ago Ferguson was an attorney in Harian county but was disbarred for unprofessional conduct. He came to Hastings and endeav-ored to be readmitted to the bar in Adams county. Judge Gaslin referred the matter to the bar association, which refused the re-quest. Yesterday Ferguson was arrested on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses on completet of a farmer. The information charges him with having ob-tained $175 from the farmer, who wished to get a divorce from his wife, on the representation that he was a regularly numitted attorney in Adams county. His hearing was postponed until tomorrow and bail fixed at $400, which was turnished later in the day.

Terrible Destruction Caused by a Cyclone Which Struck Three Cities.

MANY PEOPLE KILLED AND INJURED

Residences and Other Buildings Entirely Destroyed at Durango, Beicherville and Troy-Crops Ruined by the Wind-

Wild Frenks of the Elements.

LETT, Tex., June 2.- The vicinity of Durango was visited by a terrible cyclone last evening. W. Y. McPherson's place was struck first and wiped from the face of the earth. The family had taken refuge in a storm house and was unhurt. The piaces of Philip Stevens, John Strawn, Lee Farmer, Tom Farmer, J. Manderson and J. P. Bohn were struck and utterly demolished, and Stevens, Strawn, Mrs. Bolin, her two chiloren and Lee Farmer were hurt. Tom Farmer's child was injured so badly that it

The pext place, that of J. Groce, was swept from the earth, but Groce and family were secure in a storm house.

The next pince in the path of destruction was T. J. Weathers'. Mr. Weathers, wife was T. J. Weathers'. Mr. Weathers, wife and five children, and Mr. John Reeves, wife and baby were in the house. Mr. Weathers' wife and four children were killed. The other children were badly hurt. Mr. Reeves had his leg and collar bone broken. Mrs. Reeves was seriously hurt. Ed Buil's place was the next in the storm's path and was destroyed. The house of Henry Children was next destroyed, and he and his two children hurt, but not seriously. All of the above places were comseriously. All of the above places were com-pletely wrecked. One of Joseph Bolin's children was hurt.

Utter desolation passing description is to be seen. Huge houses were carried 200 yards. In one place a new wagon axis thimbie was broken like a pipestem and the wheel carried back quite a distance. A ceiling identified by paint was found over a mile from where it started and a picture was found five miles from home. Cotton was left without leaf or limb. Chickens were picked up and scattered along the route.

The track of the cyclone was a quarter of a

The track of the evolone was a quarter of a mile wide. A bed in J. P. Bolin's house was cropped on the floor with covers and pillows undisturbed, while the bedstead under it was wounded were found in a ravibe among debris some fifty vards from where the Weathers house had stood.

Peculiar Weather Conditions. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2.-The small cyclonic storm central yesterday morning in southwestern Missouri has moved over Illinois. This storm is included within the low pressure area that covers the country from the mouth of the Mississippi up the Ohio to that of the St. Lawrence. The rain front is slowly spreading toward the Atlantic coast, portions of which will be reached today. Another low area is present over Montana. drawing toward it southerly, warm winds and with clear conditions the present cool weather in the west will be succeeded by a much warmer wave.

More Destruction by Flood. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 2.-The effects of rainstorms which have prevailed since Monday throughout Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoms and Indian Territory, and which continue in many places, are becoming which continue in many places, are becoming evident in rising rivers. All the streams in this territory are rising rapidly and promise to exceed the high stages of water recently recorded, where not already exceeded. Enormous damage has already been done and much greater is in prospect. The damage by rain and wind in the neighborhood of Waco, Tex., alone is estimated at $500,000.

Great Destruction at Troy. TROY, Tex., June 2 .- A cyclone struck here last night, destroying the mammoth barn of Mr. Bonner and the residence and cotton gin of Mr. Helms. Mr. and Mrs. Helms and a son were badly injured, the latter proughly fatally. J. D. Denton's residence was wrecked and one of his children fatally injured. Mrs. Ballows' house was destroyed and she was painfully hurt. The school houses and a dozen other residences were destroyed. The storm destroyed nearly all the growing crops.

Twenty-two Residences Wrecked. BELCHERVILLE, Tex., June 2.-This place was visited by a disastrous cyclone last night. It destroyed the residence of J. D. Bowe, inuring himself and several of the family. G. H. Simons' residence was torn to pieces, the occupants escaping with slight injuries. George Wells' house was wrecked, his wife probably fatally hurt. Twenty-two other residences were practically destroyed. Beicher's mill and cotten gin and Mayfield & Birge's gin were badly damaged.

Accident Caused by the Flood. Dunuque, Ia., June 2 .- Water undermined the tracks of the Chicago, Burlington & Northern in this city. The track gave way under the weight of a locomotive, which went into the river. The engineer and fireman jumped, but the latter was so badly injured that he will probably die.
